

Little altar to collect your sympathy letters To our friend Google, with our regrets

the Enlightened

Three men-Larry Page, Sergueï Brin and Eric Schmidt-and their angelic faces symbolize the Google company.

Its "Don't be evil" slogan might lead us to believe that this company is angelic by definition and par excellence.

In many ways, Google is angelic, delivering us from the many hardships that we endure on the demonic Internet. Google makes our lives easier, and for that reason we love it, even adore it. It has become a new kind of all-powerful God, venerated for its permanent presence.

Then, Google duplicates us on server farms using the data it captures: keyword searches, geolocation coordinates, images, etc., building over time in the Sky, in our collective Cloud, our clone.

For a while now, this company has been determined to immortalize us through projects around Singularity and Transhumanism.

Are those three wise men not our post-modern enlightened...? What if these singular thoughts, accompanied by immense power, could transform our beliefs forever?

Trinity!

Vanity!

Memento Mori -remember that you will die- of modern times2015 - Albertine Meunier*Materials

Google blinking badges, three angels in a plate, flowers, fly, sympathy letters

Dimension

50 x 60 cm

Assistant

Maxime Didier

Fabrication

Albertine Meunier

Expositions

2015 Non Concept.Store - mi* Galerie - Paris, France

2015 Identité Revel(l)ée - mi* Galerie - Paris, France

*Schematic diagramTechnical note

Install all the different items of the installation like the pictures and sketches

Light on the flashing badges

Provide some envelopes, paper and pens, so the visitors can write his own letters of condolence and drag them into the mailbox of condolence.

Blinking Google badges with the 3 angels Larry Page, Sergueï Brin and Eric Schmidt

Little altar to collect your sympathy letters To our friend Google, with our regrets

Top view. Little altar to collect your sympathy letters To our friend Google, with our regrets

View on angels. Little altar to collect your sympathy letters To our friend Google, with our regrets

Restauration

Google blinking badges need 2 volt battery

Download documentation >

2017 - albertinemeunier.net